Completing a Deduction Notice in relation to personal contributions?

This is a short guide aimed at helping you understand the requirements where you intend to claim a deduction for personal super contributions or where you wish to vary a previous Deduction Notice you gave to the Fund.

Deduction Notice requirements

The requirements and timeframe to submit a Deduction Notice are summarised below. If these requirements are not met, you will not be entitled to claim the deduction.

Timeframes for lodgement

A Deduction Notice must be given to the Fund before the earlier of:

- the day you lodge your tax return for the year in which the contributions were made, and
- the end of the financial year after the year in which the contributions were made.

When is a Deduction Notice invalid?

A fund cannot accept a Deduction Notice that is invalid. A Deduction Notice is invalid if, at the time you gave the Deduction Notice:

- you were not a member of the Fund, for example, you have withdrawn all of your benefits from the Fund
- the Trustee no longer holds the contribution, for example, you have made a partial withdrawal or rollover after making the contribution but before submitting the Deduction Notice – see Example 1
- the Trustee has begun to pay a super income stream from your account after a contribution was made to that account but before a Deduction Notice is submitted
- you have applied to split contributions with your spouse (and the Trustee has accepted the application).

Varying a Deduction Notice

A Deduction Notice cannot be revoked or withdrawn. However, it can be varied, but only to reduce the amount claimed (including to nil).

If you wish to vary a Deduction Notice that has previously been submitted the amount that is claimed must be less than the amount specified in the previous Deduction Notice. Where the variation is effective, the contributions tax deducted from the amount of the contribution you no longer wish to claim as a deduction will typically be refunded to your account.

Variations are ineffective in circumstances similar to those in which a Deduction Notice is invalid. For example, a variation submitted after a pension has commenced based in whole or part on the contribution cannot be accepted by a Fund Trustee.

Example 1: Rolling over or drawing a lump sum – proportioning rule affecting Deduction Notices

If you withdraw or rollover benefits to another fund after making a contribution but before providing the Deduction Notice to the Fund, the Fund will no longer hold the entire amount of the contribution. The amount of the contribution that can be claimed as a deduction is calculated as a proportion of the tax free component (TFC) of your superannuation account that remains after the rollover/withdrawal.

The formula is as follows:

$$\text{TFC of remaining super account} \times \frac{\text{Contribution}}{\text{TFC of super account before rollover/withdrawal}}$$

Where “TFC” means Tax Free Component.

Rachel has a superannuation account balance of $100,000 which includes a TFC of $25,000.

She made a $25,000 personal contribution in July 2013, taking her balance to $125,000 which now includes a TFC of $50,000.

In August 2013, Rachel rolled over $50,000 to another fund leaving her with an account balance of $75,000 (assuming, for simplicity, that there have been no earnings). The $50,000 rollover was made up of $20,000 TFC and $30,000 taxable component (determined by operation of the tax component proportioning rule).

Following the rollover, the TFC of the remaining account balance is $30,000.

A valid Deduction Notice for the contribution would be limited to $15,000 which is worked out as follows:

		Contribution
TFC of remaining super account	x	TFC of super account before rollover/withdrawal
= $30,000	x	$25,000
		$50,000
= $15,000

A similar restriction will apply to variation Deduction Notices.

How do I change an amount previously included on a valid Deduction Notice?

a) Increase to the amount being claimed as a tax deduction

If you wish to increase the amount that you want to claim as a deduction, you can do so provided you still meet the requirements specified above for lodgement of the Deduction Notice. However this change in amount is not a variation to the original Deduction Notice. Instead, you need to lodge a second Deduction Notice specifying the additional amount you wish to claim.

In the new Deduction Notice, select 'No' for the question 'Is this Deduction Notice varying an earlier Deduction Notice?' in section 3.

Example 2: Increasing the amount being claimed as a tax deduction

John makes a contribution of $20,000 and lodges a Deduction Notice with his super fund to claim a deduction for $15,000. Later (but within the requirements) he decides to increase his deduction to $18,000. John must send his super fund another Deduction Notice, advising that he now also intends to claim $3,000 as a deduction. His super fund will now have two valid Deduction Notices – one Deduction Notice for $15,000 and one Deduction Notice for $3,000. John should receive two acknowledgment notices from the Fund.

In this case John would complete the Voyage – Deduction Notice for Personal Superannuation Contributions as follows:

In section 2:

Amount of personal contributions covered by this Notice that you intend to claim as a tax deduction:

$ 3,000

In section 3:

Is this Deduction Notice varying an earlier Deduction Notice?

☒ No

b) Reduction to the amount being claimed as a tax deduction

If you wish to reduce the amount you intend to claim as a deduction, you will need to lodge a variation to the original Notice sent to your fund. The variation does not alter a previous Deduction Notice; instead, it is a new Deduction Notice which replaces a previous valid Deduction Notice and shows the amount of the contributions which you now want to claim as a tax deduction.

In the new Notice, select 'Yes' for the question 'Is this varying an earlier Deduction Notice?' in section 3.

Example 3: Reducing the amount you intend to claim as a deduction

Sarah makes a contribution of $25,000 and lodges a Deduction Notice with her fund to claim a deduction for $25,000. Later she decides to reduce her deduction to $15,000. She must send her fund a new Deduction Notice in order to vary the original Notice, advising that $15,000 is the amount she now intends to claim as a tax deduction.

In this case Sarah would complete the Voyage – Deduction Notice for Personal Superannuation Contributions as follows:

In section 2:

Amount of personal contributions covered by this Notice that you intend to claim as a tax deduction:

$ 15,000

In section 3:

Is this Deduction Notice varying an earlier Deduction Notice?

☒ Yes

For more information or help with completing the Deduction Notice, please speak to your financial adviser. When deciding whether to claim a deduction for super contributions, you should consider the impact this might have on whether you will exceed your contribution caps, and whether it will affect your super contribution eligibility.
